Craig Ranch Parks / Area Recreation Amusement

McKinney's theme of "unique by nature" has never been truer than in Craig Ranch – where an exuberance of flora, greenery and arbor thrive throughout master-planned parks, trails and green spaces. Craig Ranch will also be home to the one-of-a-kind Crape Myrtle World Collection Park. There is currently 8 parks in Craig Ranch and growing.

Van Tuyl Plaza and McKinney Veterans Memorial - Planned to offer a full amphitheatre, dancing fountain and a spacious community gathering place for festivals, weekend farmers markets, holiday events or just meeting friends, Van Tuyl Plaza will also be home to the McKinney Veterans Memorial, which will feature an impressive curving wall inscribed with names of Collin County veterans who have served their country throughout the world, who have given the ultimate sacrifice for our freedom.

Collin McKinney Park - Named after Collin County's namesake, this unique park is planned to host a replica of the original home of Collin McKinney.

Crape Myrtle Park - As the only site in the world to represent each of the 120 known varieties of crape myrtles, the Crape Myrtle World Collection Park will cover seven pristine acres of Craig Ranch.

Millie Cooper Park - Planned to feature ornamental trees, benches, relaxing water features, walkways and color and scent gardens around a central plaza, this idyllic haven is perfect for unwinding and recharging.

Rowlett Creek Park - This secluded hideaway hosts 30 acres of trees, flowers and trails along the winding white-rock Rowlett Creek in Craig Ranch North.

Dr. Kenneth Cooper Park - With a half-mile rubberized track centered in a beautifully wooded setting, this respite makes it easy to get fit while enjoying nature's purest serenity.

Throckmorton Park - Offering an abundance of wide-open greenery in the center of The Settlement, Throckmorton Park is the perfect spot for pickup football games, picnicking or walking the dog.

Is Situated on 233 acres of breathtaking countryside within the wellness and lifestyle community of Craig Ranch, TPC Craig Ranch continues to redefine the private club experience – combining award-winning golf; an array of premium amenities with the personalized service and privileges that have become synonymous with the PGA Tour’s acclaimed TPC Network of clubs.

Named by Golf Digest among the top private golf courses in the U.S., TPC Craig Ranch’s par-72, 7,438-yard championship golf course was designed by PGA TOUR legend and golf course architect Tom Weiskopf to blend seamlessly with its surroundings in the Texas Hill Country. PGA TOUR player D.A. Weibring served as a consultant on the project. Lush Zoysia fairways and Bentgrass greens traverse gently rolling hills, with stands of mature hardwoods and the beautiful white limestone-based Rowlett Creek – which crosses the course 14 times – creating a stunning backdrop for an inspiring test of golf.

The course played host to the 2008 Nationwide Tour Championship, the pinnacle event on the Nationwide Tour – providing the perfect proving ground for talented players vying for a spot on the PGA TOUR. As well as host of both the Men and Women’s U.S. Open qualifier.
